Two heads are better than one. Three heads are better than two. What about hundreds or thousands of heads?
It turns out...

- Teachers are happy to share lessons with their colleagues
- It makes sense to collaborate: reduces costs, establishes best-practices, advances research
- “It is possible to raise the bar across the entire discipline”
- When you give teachers the capability to create and share – what emerges are Teaching Networks
the Biomedical Education Skills and Training Network

Started: Aug 2012, $4.5M grant, 10 Med Schools, 1 Tech partner

Concept
A network of biomedical schools sharing next generation courseware and technology

Now:
Viral Growth: >1400 academics, >240 Schools, sharing >100+ RIA lessons.
